

Soil and environment engineering and testing services

If you are an owner, an architect, a developer, or a public or private work prescriptor.

If you are a contractor dealing with buildings, property complexes, industrial facilities, major public infrastructure, civil engineering structures, underground works, roads, motorways, railways, major civil engineering works...

If your mission is to build in a safe environment, prevent risks, and preserve the natural or built surroundings of a project.

Then your search has ended: our services are specifically adapted to your needs, with due care for human and environmental safety.

Everyday, we focus on developing reliable solutions with a constant care for budget considerations, whatever your project involves and however complex it is.

We are eager to address our clients' concerns in a highly efficient and relevant way, and take pride in building strong partnerships with our clients day after day.